

Offer of PRACTICAL INTERNSHIP for Students in Civil Engineering

- combination of academic studies and hands-on experience
- involvement in all processes:
production engineering, site management, cost accounting
- independent work with a certain degree of responsibility
- exciting future job prospects

Flexible solutions for our customers necessitate qualified personnel. That's why we foster future specialists. We allow for technically versed trainees to gain interesting experience on our construction sites at home and abroad.

We offer students the opportunity to carry out their practical internship (20 weeks) as support of our site and project managers both in Germany and in the U.K.

Good English skills are essential for a stay abroad.

HUBER is convinced, that solid training is the foundation for a successful future. We, therefore, offer all trainees the opportunity to gather fundamental practical experience. The immediate involvement in all processes on site or in the design phase is a given with HUBER.

If this offer appeals to you, please send us your application preferably by e-mail to team@huber-carparksystems.com
